Road Marking in India

 White continuous line - separates the traffic flows of opposite directions; - indicates the boundaries of traffic lanes in dangerous places on the roads; - indicates the boundaries of the carriageway on which entry is forbidden; - indicates the boundaries of parking places.	 White solid line indicates the edge of the carriageway
 White dotted line indicates the edge of the carriageway on the road with two or more lanes	 Double white continuous line separates the traffic flows in the opposite directions on the roads with four and more lanes
 Yellow continuous line indicates places where stopping is forbidden	 White dotted line - separates traffic flows in the opposite directions on the roads with two or three lanes; - denotes boundaries of the lane for movement on the roads with two or more lanes intended for movement in the same direction.
 White dotted line warns of approaching to the road on which traffic flows of the opposite or same directions	 White dotted line indicates the traffic lanes within an intersection area

 Wide white dashed line marks the boundary between the acceleration or deceleration lane and the main lane of roadway	 - indicates the boundaries of the lane, in which the reverse movement is carried out; - separates traffic flows in the opposite directions on the roads where the reverse regulation is carried out.
 Yellow dotted line indicates places where parking is prohibited	 - separates traffic flows of the opposite or same directions; lane changing is permitted only from the lane with dotted line; - indicates the place intended for U-turn, entry and exit from the parking or bus stop areas; traffic is permitted only from the dotted line
 Stop line indicates the location where the driver should stop on the forbidding signal of a traffic light or on a Stop sign	 indicates the place where drivers should stop for giving way to vehicles moving on the cross road indicates a pedestrian crosswalk	 indicates the place where the bike path crosses the roadway indicates islands on the road	 indicates the bus and taxi stop

Indicates traffic movement in the lanes	warns about the approach to narrowing of the carriageway warns about the approach to the place where drivers should stop to give way to vehicles crossing the road	warns about the approach to the stop line
Indicates the road's number	Indicates the bus lane indicates the artificial bumps on the road	Indicates the speed limit